Dr. Kinard Welcomed Crowd and Speaker-Dr. White Made Introduction.

A large and representative audience listened intently to the two-hour address' .! Hon. William Jengings Bryan on "The War in Europe," last night at Anderson college. Both the orchestra and the balcony of the spacious auditorium were well filled and the number of ladies present was and the number of ladies present was notably large.

Colonel Bryan delivered his address in a clear, unimpassioned voice and the comprehensive manner in which he dealt with the topic under discussion made a many sided question a simple proposition easily understood from his standpoint. That his remarks carried conviction to many of the audlence, was evidenced by the the audience, was evidenced by the sincere and vociferous applause which interputed the speaker at different
